

CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT

August 28, 2007

The Columbia County Board of Education (CCBOE) considers the essential function of education to be the development of individuals who can effectively and productively participate in and contribute to a rapidly changing society. To facilitate this primary function, the CCBOE continually develops, reviews, and implements the instructional curriculum across all grades levels and content areas. The instructional curriculum of the CCBOE, aligned with the state standards, provides its students with educational experiences designed to promote the acquisition of knowledge, skills, attitudes, and values.

The adopted curriculum of the CCBOE will be followed consistently in all schools. Changes in the instructional program for any school will be subject to the approval of the CCBOE.
